JOE Chapter Sponsors Party

Some 50 couples—20 more than had been expected—attended the alumni party of the Jasper-Owensboro-Evansville chapter following the St. Joseph-Evansville basketball game Feb. 22.

The St. Joseph basketball team, which had dropped its final game of the season to Evansville, 78-70, was invited to the party, which was held at the Evansville Knights of Columbus club. Bill Krodell, '50, president of the chapter, was in charge.

NEXT MONTH: THE BIG PICTURE

A special 32-page supplement of U.S. higher education, entitled "American Higher Education 1958," will come to you with the April issue of Contact, which will be inside the supplement.

Alumni editors and publishers throughout the country have joined in this first cooperative effort to tell the story of American higher education in a dramatic and panoramic way. In 32 pages of pictures and text, the supplement will present the immense diversity of higher education in its variety of objectives, its problems, its restlessness, and its new approaches.

The text has been written by a group of alumni editors who have been at work for more than a year. One of the country's leading photographers, Erich Hartmann of Magnum Photos, has taken the pictures. The supplement will appear in more than 150 alumni publications whose combined circulation is 1,300,000.

The next issue of Contact will be inserted between pages two and three of the supplement.

Louisville Stages Annual Breakfast

Forty-two alumni attended the Louisville chapter's annual Communion Breakfast Sunday, Mar. 16, in the chapel and cafeteria of Bellarmine College.

Bishop Charles G. Maloney, '32, Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Louisville, was the celebrant at the Mass and Msgr. Alfred Horrigan, '34, president of Bellarmine College, was the main speaker at the breakfast. Bishop Maloney and Fr. John Lefko, secretary-treasurer of the Alumni association, also addressed the group.

Rudy Volz, '53, chairman of the Communion Breakfast arrangements, was unanimously reelected president of the chapter, and Bill Smith was unanimously reelected secretary-treasurer.

After the breakfast the chapter's Board of Directors met and discussed the telephone campaign in the Louisville area, a raffle, a bus trip to the St. Joseph-Xavier football game next fall, and a cocktail party before the St. Joseph-Bellarmine basketball game next winter.

College to Confer Degrees On Bishop, Prof. Tonner

SJC Receives 8-Foot Crucifix From California's Bill Peitz, '42

by Greg Mahoney, '60

When the students thunder down the cafeteria steps for their three square meals a day, one of the first things they see is a large crucifix hanging on the north wall. Since they're living in the surroundings of an institution dedicated to the teachings of Christ, naturally it's not too surprising that one more crucifix, such as the one in the cafeteria, would not attract any great attention.

However, this particular crucifix represents something more to the College. It is the end result of a lot of time and meticulous effort on the part of a St. Joseph alumnus.

About a year ago the crucifix was a block of wood in the workshop of Bill Peitz, '42, in his home in North Hollywood, Cal. Today, after some 200 hours of expert designing and carving, a beautiful eight-foot crucifix adorns the College cafeteria.

The work on this crucifix was done strictly in Peitz's free time, when he was not occupied in his job as business manager of the Ethel Meglin Studios, Inc., a theatrical arts training firm.

Actually, this project was not a whim on Peitz's part. His hobby happens to be developing liturgical wood cuts. Among his other religious works is a detailed sculptured head of Christ and the Madonna.

Fr. Joseph Otte was the prime motivating force behind the crucifix's journey across country to its present resting place. Last summer, when Father Otte was touring the West Coast meeting alumni in that area, he came across the crucifix and its talented creator. As he says, "I liked it immediately because it seemed so outstanding."

'56 Grad Promoted

Richard C. Dwinell, Jr., '56, stationed with the Army in Wurzburg, Germany, was recently promoted to private first class.

A clerk in the Seventh Army's 42nd Finance Disbursing section, suasion, and the crucifix was on its way to Collegeville, Ind.

RICHARD C. DWINELL, JR., '56

Not content just to turn out such a masterpiece, Bill Peitz took personal charge of its safe delivery. He carefully packed it in his car and set off across the 2,000 miles that separated Hollywood from his alma mater.

The crucifix was placed in the main hall of the Administration building while the cafeteria was undergoing alterations this summer. When the modernization process was finally completed, the crucifix was moved downstairs to the cafeteria and hung in its present spot.

Geologists to Hold Summer Course

St. Joseph's College will begin a permanent field course in geology next summer at Silver City in Grant county, N.M. The eight-week course will run from June 16 to Aug. 9.

The work will involve the geology of the Silver City region and will include training in stratigraphy, structural geology, geomorphology, economic geology, topographic mapping, geologic mapping with the plane table, the Brunton compass, topographic maps and aerial photographs.

According to Fr. Carl Nieset, associate professor of geology at the College, the summer class will be conducted on an annual basis and is a graduation requirement for geology students. Twenty-four students will attend this summer's course, possibly including a few applicants from other schools if the quota is not filled by St. Joseph's.

In addition to Father Nieset, Fr. Donald Ballman and Mr. Michael Davis, both of St. Joseph's geology department, will teach the course.

A dormitory on the campus of St. Mary Academy has been rented and the Academy will provide the students with the necessary living and academic facilities. The total cost to each student will be $335. The course will carry eight semester hours credit.

A similar course was offered in 1956 but was canceled last summer because of the work being done by Fathers Nieset and Ballman. The two professors completed a 200-square-mile mapping expedition of the Silver City area for the New Mexico Bureau of Mines. According to the two priests, the area, between Silver City and Lordsburg, had never before been mapped so completely. The project was set up to determine the mineral development prospects of the region.

New Calumet Library Dedicated

A new library and board of directors and faculty room for St. Joseph's Calumet Extension Center were dedicated Jan. 23 by Bishop Andrew J. Grutka of Gary, Ind.

More than 500 guests attended open house following the ceremonies.

Holds 5,000 Volumes

The library is a remodeled store front next to the administration office and art studio of the Center at 4706 Indianapolis boulevard. The board of directors and faculty room is a walnut-and-birch-paneled room within the library but separated from it by large plate-glass panels.

About 1,000 volumes are now available to students; the library is designed to house 5,000 select works relating to courses being offered at the Center. Classes are held in the evening at Bishop Noll High school in Hammond.

Fr. Gross Speaks

The library furnishings are a soft light birch of modern design. Three striking serigraph paintings by noted young American artists hang on the walls.

Speakers at the dedication included Fr. Gross and

Gridders to Play 9-Game Schedule

St. Joseph's football team, champions of the Indiana Collegiate conference for the past three years, will play a nine-game schedule next fall. Eight of the nine teams were on St. Joseph's 1957 schedule, when the Pumas recorded their second consecutive 8-1 season.

Head Coach Bob Jauron announced that the only newcomer will be NE Oklahoma State College of Tahlequah, Okla., whom the Pumas will play for the first time at St. Joseph's Sept. 20. The Redmen, who will replace NW Missouri State on the Puma schedule, posted a 7-3 mark last fall and finished second in the Oklahoma Collegiate conference. In 1956 they won the conference championship, finishing with an 8-1 record, and then lost to St. Benedict's in the Mineral Water Bowl, 14-13.

In addition to NE Oklahoma and the six traditional ICC foes, St. Joseph's will open for the third straight year at Cincinnati, O. against Xavier University Sunday night, Sept. 14, and will close against Eastern Michigan at Ypsilanti Nov. 15 in the second half of a home-and-home-series. Xavier has handed St. Joseph's its only two defeats in the last two seasons.

The Pumas, who have not lost a conference game since 1955, will play four games at home—NE Oklahoma, DePauw Sept. 27, Indiana State in the Homecoming game Oct. 18, and Ball State Nov. 1. In addition to Xavier and Eastern Michigan, they will travel to meet Butler Oct. 4, Valparaiso Oct. 25, and Evansville Nov. 8. St. Joseph's will have one open date, Oct. 11, which last year was filled by St. Vincent of Latrobe, Pa.

St. Joseph's is due to suffer its heaviest loss in years with the

Rogovich Paces Cagers With 16.1

For the third consecutive season Guard Dan Rogovich paced St. Joseph's basketball team with a 16.1 game scoring average, according to final statistics released by the College news bureau. The Pumas finished the season with a 10-11 record and in a three-way tie for third place in the Indiana Collegiate conference with a 5-7 mark.

An All-Conference selection last year, Rogovich, along with Sophomore Forward Bob Williams, received honorable mention for his 1957-58 play as the conference coaches selected four forwards and a guard for the honor squad. The 5-8 junior (Rogovich is a first-semester junior with a year and a half of eligibility remaining) finished sixth in the conference in individual scoring.

Rogovich also received honorable mention on the first annual Catholic Digest Catholic All-America squad, appearing in the April issue, and was named to the first team of the sixth annual All-Midwest Catholic college squad.

Joining the Pumas as a freshman in February, 1956 (the last year that freshmen were allowed to play in the ICC), Rogovich paced the squad with an 18.1 average. In 1956-57 he registered 17.5.

Williams, who developed fast in the final half of the season and finished with an 11.7 average, came in second in the conference in field goal percentage with a hot .487 clip from the floor. The only other Puma to finish among the leaders was Sophomore Center Jack Finnegan, who averaged 11.7 rebounds per game to wind up fifth in that category. Center John Bishop had been the number two rebounder in the league with a 15.3 average when he was ruled scholastically ineligible at the end of the first semester.

As a team the Pumas finished sixth in offense with a 68.7 average; second in defense (69.2); third in field goal percentage (.383); fifth in free throw percentage (.621); and second in rebound averages (51).

It is interesting to note that the seven ICC teams, excluding post-season tournament play, won 44 games outside the conference while losing only 29. Only three teams—St. Joseph's, Indiana State and Valparaiso—had losing season records, and St. Joseph's (10-11) and Indiana State (11-12) missed the .500 mark by only one game. Evansville, with 19-3, recorded the best record, while Valparaiso (7-14) registered the worst.

New Puma Coach . . .

Dayton Ace Added To Athletic Staff

Don "Butch" Zimmerman, Dayton University quarterback who will graduate in June, has been named assistant football and freshman basketball coach at St. Joseph's College. He will assume his duties in August.

Zimmerman, co-captain of the Dayton football squad last fall, will join his former high school coach, Bob Jauron, who coached Zimmerman at Chaminade high school in Dayton in 1953, when Zimmerman won All-State honors in both football and baseball.

The new Puma addition will replace Dale O'Connell as backfield coach and will assist basketball Coach Joe Iofredo, who succeeded O'Connell to the post when O'Connell resigned last month after three years at the helm.

Zimmerman earned three letters in football at Dayton and also lettered in baseball.

Pros Draft Sherwood

George Sherwood, veteran end for St. Joseph's Pumas for the past four years, has been drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional Football League. Sherwood had received questionnaires from the Los Angeles Rams and the Pittsburgh Steelers before being drafted by the Eagles.

Sherwood, who was hampered by injuries much of last season, had his best campaign as a junior in 1956 when he was selected to the All-Indiana Collegiate conference squad and the Catholic Little All-America. Fast, elusive and a good receiver, he set a conference record that year for the most scoring passes caught in a single season—six.

Although a good defensive end and one of Jauron's most dependable all-around players, Sherwood's specialty was the long pass. Although he did not participate in a great number of pass-plays (he caught a total of 29 in his four-year career; in 1952 alone Joe Pindell caught 31, the school record), the plays in which Sherwood was involved amounted to considerable yardage. Each of the 29 passes Sherwood caught during his 36-game career averaged 24.9 yards, and 11 of those passes went for touchdowns. In 1956 alone, each of his 12 receptions was good for 31.8 yards and seven of them resulted in touchdowns.

A 6-0, 185-pound native of Long Beach, Calif., Sherwood holds a second ICC record—the most scoring passes caught in one career—eight.

Good Sophs, 10 Lettermen Raise Hopes of Puma '9'

St. Joseph's baseball squad, hoping to improve its 3-10 record of last year, will play a 19-game schedule, including 14 at home.

Seven of the dates will be doubleheaders, including six against Indiana Collegiate conference foes. All ICC doubleheaders have been scheduled for Saturday afternoons and, in case of postponement, will be played on Mondays. In addition to the six conference opponents, the Pumas will play Huntington College in a doubleheader and single games with the Illinois Institute of Technology, Indiana Central, Marian, and two single dates with Wabash.

Head Coach Bob Shemky, in his second year at the helm, said the outlook is not nearly as pessimistic as it was last year, when the Pumas finished in last place in the ICC with a 1-8 conference mark.

"We have 10 lettermen back from last year's squad," said Shemky, "plus outfielder Bob Hamman, a letterwinner two years ago. We also have 10 sophomores up—three outfielders, four infielders, and three pitchers—all of whom show promise. In addition, we have two experienced non-letterwinners available for catching duty, and Junior Angelo Dattomo, who has not played with us before but is rated as quite a pitcher.

"Could be Contender" "The attitude and spirit have been excellent," Shemky continued, "and I think, particularly if the sophomores live up to the promise they've shown so far, we could be a title contender this year."

Among the biggest reasons behind Shemky's optimism is the return of Pitcher Greg Jancich, 6-4 righthander, who won all three games last year and, although he also lost four, compiled a 1.26 earned run average which ranked him 25th in the nation among small college hurlers. In 57 innings the big senior allowed only 34 hits, struck out 77 and walked 20. He was an All-Conference selection. Last season Jancich was the only hurler with any experience at all; this year there are six "fairly good" prospects to back him up. They are letterwinners Willie Walters and Ed Vrdolayk, who turned in creditable jobs last year; Sophomores Bob Gallagher, Tom Geffert and Greg Grotehouse; and Dattomo.

Dattomo Big Worry "Last year," said Shemky, "because of our tremendous lack of experience, my big worries were pitching, hitting and fielding. This season my biggest concern right now is Dattomo's arm—he's complained of soreness already."

Letterman Tom Deem, who was the only Puma to hit over .300 (.333) in 1957, will be back behind the plate, supported by John Walsh and Jim Rogers.

The starting infield of first baseman Bob Valencik (.256), second baseman Tom Freehill (.152), third baseman Jim Gagliano (.300) and shortstop Ray Kuzniar (.250) is back. Battling for starting berths are Sophomores Jack Finnegan, starting center in basketball, at first base; Denny Evans at second base; Ronnie Piermattei at third base; and Dick Courtney at second, third or short.

Shemky anticipates a particularly strong outfield. In addition to lettermen Carl Kozlevcar (.245), George Rickord (.111), and Hamman, who hit .362 in 1956, Sophomores Jim Koehler, Jim Moulthrop and Ronnie Tovsen have shown considerable promise. "There should be a lot more speed out there," says Shemky.

"Boys Are Experienced" "Last year we did pretty well under the circumstances—many of the games we lost were close—but primarily we lacked hitting in the clutch. This year the boys are experienced and with competition provided by some of these sophomores we should be improved in all departments."

The 1957 squad finished with a team batting average of .222 and averaged slightly better than two runs per game. Their offense included only eight extra base hits in 13 games, and they struck out more than seven times per game. Defensively, they fielded .910, committing 42 errors. Nevertheless, despite these figures, the squad still made a consistently respectable showing even in defeat, thanks to the pitching staff which compiled a combined earned run average of only 3.38.

Apr. 13 Planned For Science Day

The biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics and physics departments will conduct St. Joseph's annual Science Day on Sunday, Apr. 13. Letters have been sent out to parents and neighboring high schools inviting them to tour the Science building during the exhibits. Alumni and the public are, of course, also invited.

Students have been placed in charge of organizing the department exhibits and will explain them to visitors on Science Day.

"What Is Life?"

The biology exhibits will be centered around the main theme of "What Is Life?" and will be divided into five categories. Students in the chemistry department are planning a gravimetric analysis and exhibits in organic and inorganic chemistry, biochemistry and qualitative analysis. The geologists will center on the theme "Geology of Indiana, Structurally and Economically," and this too will be divided into three sections. The geology department will also, weather permitting, assemble a "Field Course" outside to explain various instruments used in geological work.

Mathematics will exhibit several displays and offer short talks on various aspects and principles of mathematics. The physics department will concentrate on electricity and its sources, uses and applications.

Advisory Board

The students are under the advisory direction of Dr. Jay Barton, associate professor of biology; Michael Davis, assistant professor of geology; and Brother John Marling, associate professor of mathematics.

The Opening of School . .

JUDGE STODOLA INTRODUCES the author of the article in Traffic Safety magazine—Officer Raymond H. Baars, director of the Hammond Traffic school—to one of the classes.

Judge Stodola Launches Hammond Traffic School

Judge Frank Stodola, '46, of Hammond and first vice-president of St. Joseph's Alumni association, was featured in the October issue of Traffic Safety magazine for his and Chief of Police John Mahoney's inauguration of the Hammond Traffic school.

The article, written by Raymond H. Baars, director of the Traffic school, begins like this:

"Hammond's young Judge Stodola stepped down from his bench one afternoon, disgusted.

"The docket had been heavy, and most of the charges were traffic violations. He stalked from his office and down the corridor to the traffic division where he confronted Captain John Mahoney (now Chief of Police).

"John, what have we ever done to help the motorist in this city," the Judge asked. "What has been done besides slapping a fine on the violator?"

"The Captain, a veteran of the police department and skipper of the traffic division for many years, looked up quizzically from his desk. "What's on your mind, Judge?"

"It was then and there that the Hammond Traffic school was born. These two men put in long hours planning a school to aid the motorist. At first, the school was to be for the violator only, but after the word got around, a great many non-violators asked if they could attend as volunteers. So it was opened to the public. The results of this new-found form of drivers education in the city of Hammond have been astounding.

"More than 1,800 students have attended the school. This total includes both violators and volunteers. Of this group of graduates, only one per cent have been repeaters. More encouraging, it has been noted by the heads of the traffic division that there has been a slow but steady decline in traffic arrests."

The goal of the traffic school is to overcome poor attitudes bred by conditions in Hammond which make driving difficult—a booming population, now around 110,000, 212 railroad crossings in the city, and the plentiful industrial jobs which attract additional people from rural areas who have never had to cope with urban traffic.

Judge Stodola sizes up each defendant and decides whether education will help. There are actually three types of students in the school—the violator whom Judge Stodola sends; those who are found not guilty but who get a strong hint from the Judge that they should enroll in the school; and volunteers, most of whom are over 35, many of them women boning up for re-examination. The chip-on-shoulder attitude of those in the first two categories have frequently been known to change when they found out what the school was all about.

"A serious or flagrant violation will land the violator in school every time—unless the violation is driving while under the influence. There is no point in retraining a driver who won't be driving for the next year."

The school is of eight hours duration, two hours per week for four consecutive weeks, either on Friday nights or Saturday mornings. Those failing to appear are arrested on a bench warrant, charged with contempt of court, and put in jail. When the student satisfactorily completes the course (with a minimum grade of 70), he receives a certificate from the traffic school.

"The Judge is convinced," concludes the article, "that for many people, education is the only way to build respect for the automobile and spread knowledge of the state's financial responsibility laws. As soon as his case load reaches 8,000 a year, the Judge will be assigned a referee to handle some of the burden. He is beginning to watch the docket rather closely now, because there are often as many as 120 a day in court.

"If the day ever comes when a majority of Hammond's voters know what their traffic school is doing for their city, Judge Stodola hopes to see it expanded so all violators can go to school."

After graduating from St. Joseph's, the Judge received his law degree from Valparaiso in 1950.

He was elected city judge two years ago.

Jazz Concert Apr. 27

The alumni are invited to a jazz concert, sponsored by the Student Council, to be held on the St. Joseph campus Sunday afternoon, Apr. 27. There will be no admission charge.

Student Council President Louis Kun has received a signed contract from the "Dukes of Dixieland," nationally famous jazz and Dixieland band now playing in Chicago. The "Dukes," whose recording of "Yellow Dog Blues" ranks high among the country's juke box favorites, have appeared at Chicago's Blue Note, Brass Rail, and Black Orchid, among other night spots.

According to Kun, this will be the first time to his knowledge that St. Joseph's has ever held a jazz concert.

On Saturday afternoon, Apr. 26, the Puma baseball squad will battle Valparaiso in a doubleheader on the St. Joseph diamond.

3 Geology Alumni Publish Articles

Three geology graduates—Theodore DeBrosse, '55, James Tharin, '54, and Alfred Miesch, '50—have had articles published recently, according to information received from Fr. Carl Nieset, associate professor of geology.

DeBrosse, of the Division of the Geological Survey, Department of Natural Resources, Columbus, O., wrote an article entitled "Coal Beds of the Cone-maugh Formation in Ohio," which was issued as a Report of Investigations No. 34 by the Ohio Division of the Geological Survey.

"Alteration of Clay Minerals in Illinoian Till by Weathering" was co-authored by Tharin, of the Department of Geology, University of Illinois. The article was printed in the January issue of the Bulletin of the Geological Society of America.

Miesch, of the U.S. Geological Survey with headquarters in Grand Junction, Colo., co-authored an article entitled "A New Method for Obtaining Significant Average Directional Measurements in Cross-Stratification Studies." The article appeared in the September, 1957 issue of the Journal of Sedimentary Petrology.

Count Basie Signed for Prom

A Shaggy Puppy Story

Mother's Day at St. Joseph's: New Dorm Has Maternity Ward

By Tim J. Sullivan, Jr., '60
One of the new halls is going to the dogs!

Nearly-completed Halas hall, the southernmost of the two new St. Joe student residences, is at present serving a very unusual function—that of a maternity ward for eight puppies and their mother. In a small corner in the south end of the main corridor of the skeleton building stands a mortar board, a mixing barrel, a forced-air heater, a pile of concrete bricks, and a red sign reading "Peanuts' Kennel—Maternity Ward." These implausible materials go to make up the only home that the pups have ever known.

Dogs Made Comfortable

On Mar. 16, the workers of the F. A. Wilhelm Construction Co. came to work to find that the stray female dog, who had been dubbed "Peanuts," had given birth to eight furry balls of helpless life, ranging in color from coal black to light tan. Although construction men are supposedly "hard guys," they immediately pitched in and made the new family feel at home.

With the crude materials at hand, the workers constructed a makeshift maternity ward, installed a forced-air heater, piped in water, and kept the food bowl well-filled everyday through donations. No stray mother was ever made more at home than Peanuts was!

Peanuts Is "Just Dog"

Peanuts, now burdened with the responsibility of a hungry family, is "just dog." She has a very heavy black coat and likes to be scratched behind the ears, but then, what dog doesn't? Unfortunately, she is of common (very common) stock, and is not the possessor of a noble blood line to pass on to her off-spring.

Her home is nothing but a common barrel, found on any construction job, but she has taken up residence in it with the dignity of a princess. It is painted Cape Cod white, and is well insulated with wool batting. Although her food is nothing but dog food, she eats it off a Pumaville cafeteria dish. Nothing but the best for her.

A Kind Landlord

All this is through the auspices of F. A. Wilhelm's construction superintendent, Mr. Hall. He has spared no trouble in making Peanuts comfortable. It is not known what the head of the construction company thinks of this whole deal, but surely "a poor dog deserves its day."
